Headline:
Heavy showers at times over the weekend, improving next week.

This Evening and Tonight:
Heavy and perhaps thundery showers will tend to linger in the north and west through the evening, before the showers gradually move eastwards overnight. Elsewhere, largely dry and mostly cloudy. Light winds. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Sunday:
Heavy showers will gradually clear away eastwards during the morning, but staying rather cloudy for most. Brightening up in the afternoon, bringing the risk of some scattered showers. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Generally drier and brighter from Monday, with warm sunny spells, although the odd shower possible Monday morning. Breezy at times on southern coasts.
